

Most particularly I can confidently state how much easier it is to work with the teams versus other Subcontractors – less questions of pdl's, proper adherence to pdl's, better quality workmanship, speedier and more accurate working and a better understanding of the desired end result.

I get very little hassle and interruption from the teams, and when I do it's normally positively constructive rather than time wasting issues from inexperience or lack of training.

I get continuity, consistency and confidence in the work.
